Another New Build!

As part of our ongoing commitment to T Level delivery, University Academy Holbeach is pleased to announce the opening of our brand-new T Level Construction building. This exciting on-site development houses an impressive and extensive construction area which will accommodate all the Construction Department's multiple discipline requirements.

The intention is that the facility will be multi-functional: brick-work and joinery/carpentry students will build the shell of a domestic property in the teaching area, and then the electrical and plumbing students will practice their skills by the installation of gas pipework, water systems and electrical wiring. The opportunity this will afford our current and future cohorts is significant as they will gain real-time working knowledge of their area of expertise, and will also acquire an appreciation of what other skills go into a house build. In addition to the remarkable working area, the building also accommodates a specialised classroom facility, changing and shower area and an office for teaching staff to work.

The T Level construction building sits alongside the T Level classroom block which houses our state-of-the-art simulated hospital wing. The ward has been up and running since last summer and has already been used extensively by the Health students who also run clinics for school staff members to check blood pressure and vital statistics in order to hone their professional and people skills. Academic classes are held in the building's suite of classrooms which includes a dedicated area for the Management and Administration T Level delivery.

October Careers' Fair

UAH ran its annual Career's Fair in October which was well attended by local and national organisations. Students from all year groups were able to talk to the NHS, local companies such as Taylor's Bulbs and other educational establishments. UAH's T Level programme leaders were out in force: students really engaged with the Healthcare T Level stand where T Level students demonstrated the Department's simulated choking vests... a real skill for life!

Students on Placement

This November, the health care T Level students started their placement at Queen Elizabeth's Hospital (QEH), King's Lynn; they were lucky enough to be given a variety of experiences ranging from fracture clinics to general surgery. Their placements will run for the next few months and could potentially lead to them being offered places on the NHS Reservist Programme and/or Nursing Bank. Our developing relationship with QEH has also meant that 2 of our year 13 T Level Management students have been placed in administrative roles ... we look forward to seeing further developments in the coming months!

Thanks to our Guest Speakers

This term we have had a visit from Andrea James (QEH), who came in to talk about careers in the NHS and Elaine Kells and Sid Pontin who came in to talk to Management T Level students about careers in the auto trade industry. The students gained an important insight into how this industry uses employment pipelines and takes a refreshing approach to interviews and workforce upskilling.
